MOTOR CAR GOSPEL

LAST LAP OF ROUND-THE-WORLD DASH IN 6-CYLINDER HUDSON CAR

Mr. F. Howes, the Hudson dealer, today learned of a unique and unprecedented travel project that is planned by a prominent Los Angeles clubman and businessman. It is a globe-encircling journey which, according to the contemplated plan, will be wound up by a westward transcontinental dash in a 6-cylinder Hudson car.

Jack Jevne, a well-known business figure in Los Angeles, purchased the car the other day in the California city, delivery to be made to him in Detroit upon reaching that city on his way west to Los Angeles.

The round-the-world trip is to start at an early date, all but the final 2,000 miles being occupied with railroad and steamer travel.

The purchase of the car was equally notable in that it was made solely on confidence in the Hudson product. Mr. Jevne not bothering to ask much about the car's features.

It will be interesting to note the results of the transcontinental dash," said Mr. Howes. "It will be very convincing to thousands of motorists to see what record the Los Angeles car will make."

1913 LOCOS ARE IMMENSELY POPULAR

Manager George S. Wells, of the Royal Hawaiian Garage reports a number of inquiries and prospective sales of Locomobiles, the car they recently secured the agency for. The 1913 Locomobiles represent the latest ideas of men away up in the automobile world, besides being the most attractive car on the market today.

In speaking of the car Manager Wells said:

"One of the most important points in the combination of the Locomobile electric motor starter with the Locomobile electric lighting system, which is the best mechanically and the most completely worked out in all its details. In this connection, it is essential that consideration be given the important fact that our lighting system alone costs as much, if not more, than any one of a number of combined electric and starting systems on the market, the adoption of any one by us would have been a matter of expediency, only enabling us to advertise electric starting as well as electric lighting, but without offering to the customer the highest development of these features, as we feel they should be incorporated in the Locomobile. No such combined system met our tests. Only by adopting one highly specialized lighting system could we assure ourselves that we had the highest efficiency in that direction; only by selecting the best Electric Starter could we get superiority in that field. No other car has electric lighting so fully developed as in the Locomobile. In no other car is the combination of electric lighting and starting handled in the same efficient way."

BERLIN PHYSICIAN ELABORATES ON HIS TUBERCULOSIS 'CURE'

Newspaper discussion of the alleged discovery of a certain cure for tuberculosis still continue, with Dr. Frederick F. Friedman, the young German physician, as the center of controversy.

Little has been said by Dr. Friedman himself since the first announcement of his cure, late last November. However, W. G. Sheppard, the well-known American journalist, secured from him an interview in which he said:

"My treatment is very simple. One injection of the serum usually drives all signs of tuberculosis from the system. I have lived in a world of astonishment for more than a year. I have seen men, women and children who were doomed to death made perfectly whole again in the space of a few weeks; but the greatest wonder to me is that the serum immunizes tuberculosis, like vaccination against smallpox."

"Do you vaccinate as in smallpox?" the physician was asked.

"No, I only give an injection with a syringe of the same serum that I use for patients. A slight local swelling follows, but no running sore. I have produced enough of the culture to supply the world for all time, for the germs multiply very rapidly. I have treated more than 1000 cases and have not lost one except in instances where the vitality was so low that nothing could save the patient. Of course, the cure does not restore lost lungs or dis-surs. It only kills tuberculosis germs where it encounters them."

Answering queries as to when he would send his serum to the United States and as to its cost, Dr. Friedman said that representatives of several American interests are en route to Berlin, and that the question of American rights will not be settled until they arrive. He said the treatment would be inexpensive and that doses would cost less than one dollar per dose to manufacture.

The speed of the cure, according to Dr. Friedman, is remarkable.

"It takes only a few weeks at most," said Dr. Friedman, "to cure the average case of pulmonary tuberculosis. The serum seems to kill all the tuberculosis germs within the body within a very short space of time. Hemorrhages cease, wounds in lungs heal, fever disappears. The patients immediately regain their appetites and nature begins building up again what the germs have destroyed. I give no diet or other treatment. The only thing I do is to inject the serum with a small syringe into the buttock or the arm."

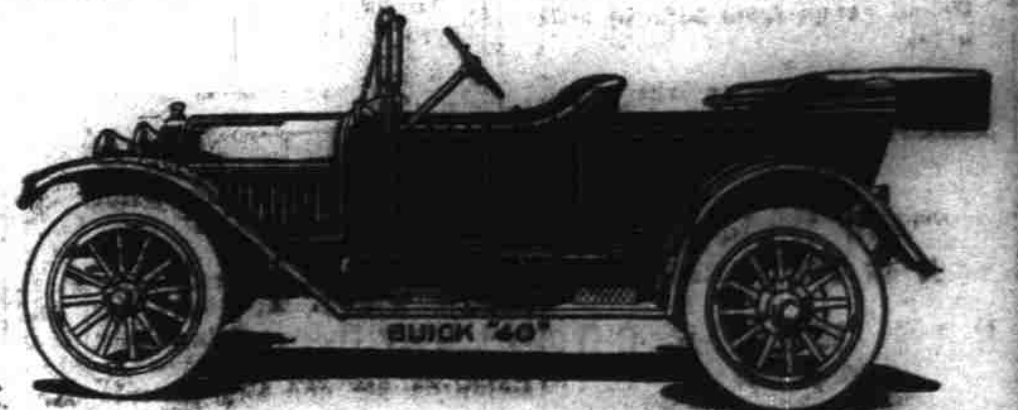

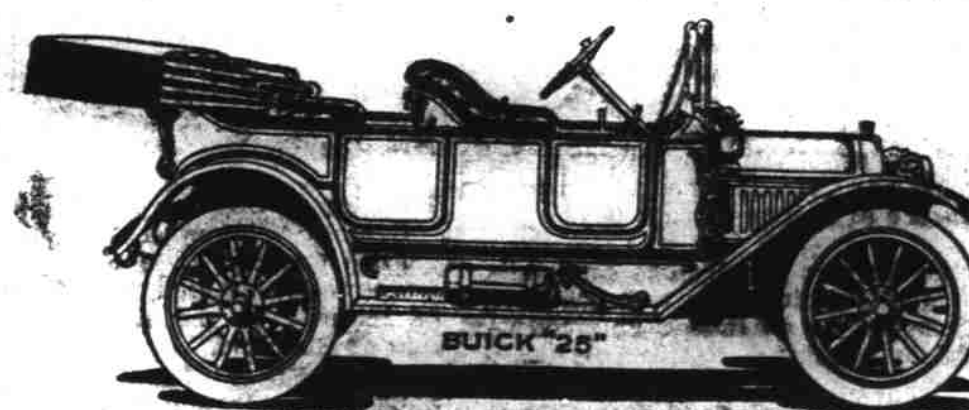

Reporting his interview with Dr. Friedman, Mr. Sheppard who is a trained newspaperman, well able to detect frauds and quacks, goes flatly on record as believing that Dr. Friedman's discovery is the greatest boon in medicine the world has known.

"I saw and conversed with many patients," says Sheppard.
